Weekly Devotional

Nevertheless I am continually with You!

Charles Spurgeon

Nevertheless I am continually with thee: thou hast holden me by my right hand"
Psalm 73:23

"Nevertheless"—as if notwithstanding all the foolishness and ignorance that David had just been confessing to God—not one atom the less was it true and certain that David was saved and accepted, and that the blessing of being constantly in God's presence was undoubtedly his. Fully conscious of his own lost estate and of the deceitfulness and vileness of his nature—yet by a glorious outburst of faith, he sings, "Nevertheless I am continually with You!"

Believer, endeavor in like spirit to say, "Nevertheless, since I belong to Christ, I am continually with God!"

I am continually upon His mind—He is always thinking of me for my good.

I am continually before His eye—the eye of the Lord never sleeps but is perpetually watching over my welfare.

I am continually in His hand—so that none will be able to pluck me out from it.

I am continually on His heart—worn there as a memorial, even as the high priest bore the names of the twelve tribes upon His heart forever.

"You always think of me, O God. You are always making providence work for my good. You have set me as a signet upon Your arm. Your love is as strong as death—many waters cannot quench it, neither can the floods drown it. You see me in Christ, and though in myself I am despised—You behold me as wearing Christ's garments of salvation and washed in His blood; and thus I stand accepted in Your presence. I am thus continually in Your favor. I am continually with You!"
